

For the last 3 years I've been managing teams and products on both the non- and for-profit side of one of the worlds most beloved brands. The portfolio of the 130 year old mission driven media venture is vast with unique challenges across it's education and entertainment services and products.

